Can You Dig It? Delve into the history of Fort Frederica

Project Title	Can You Dig It? Delve into the history of Fort Frederica
Summary	Dig into the history of Fort Frederica and connect visitors virtually to the past. Review and refine the website to help students and adults understand how archeology can tell the story of this historic place.
Country	United States

Project Description

Fort Frederica tells the story of a fledgling colony. Although little structural evidence remains, archeological evidence abounds. In preparation for the new NPS app, the website will be reviewed for correct and relevant content and new stories added.

Interns with a secondary school education background are sought to review and create the history pages of our website for adult readers; interns with an elementary/middle school education background to populate the Kids pages with the same. Tasks may include but are not limited to: researching topics, talking with subject-matter experts, locating and formatting images, incorporating A/V clips or other graphic elements, writing and editing text.

We are seeking individuals with excellent writing and editing skills, including an understanding of plain language and web-writing best practices and experience tailoring content to address audience needs. An editorial style guide, books regarding the cultural history of the island, and other guidance will be provided.

Required Skills or Interests

Skill(s)
Design thinking
Editing and proofreading
Educational design
Research
Storytelling/blogging/vlogging
Videography

Additional Information

Please visit Fort Frederica's current webpage at www.nps.gov/fofr and compare it to other NPS sites. Content is already present but we would like to make information concise and more relevant as other stories emerge about the site.

Language Requirements

None